Dear Parents and Guardians,

Can you believe we are already in the mid-term of the first quarter?! It has been truly amazing to witness all of the community and parent support as we have started this school year in a remote setting. We have witnessed great successes in our students! They are really getting the hang of learning in this setting. They are asking great questions, completing work to show their learning, and engaging during their synchronous learning times. It is amazing to see the work that the students are turning in through Google Classroom for feedback from their teachers.

Our teachers are also learning! They have done an incredible job learning new platforms to engage students. They have delivered the lessons in a very different way than what they have done throughout their career.

I am proud and applaud all of the students, parents, and teachers for their commitment to learning!

I wanted to reach out to reshare two parent resources with all of you. The first is a brief tutorial on the Google Classroom basics. The link to the presentation can be found on our district website under the remote learning tool guides for parents. The second resource is our Skyward school management system. Your student's current mid-term grades can be found in your Skyward account. The login information is the same that you used to register your child this summer. If you have a question regarding accessing your child's grades through the Skyward platform, please call IMS and our secretaries will be happy to guide you through this process. Also, if you have a question about one of the grades for your child, please reach out to the teacher for clarification. As always, please continue to reach out with questions or concerns and we will be happy to help guide you.

Thank you for your patience, flexibility, and grace this school year!

Sincerely,

Dr. Margaret Segersten, Principal
